"Two of the repiles are from principals of high schools of the Normal district which never before, I believe, engaged in the competitive events They are Hamilton and Jameson, while Albany also has expressed an intention already to engage in the school meet."

Prepares Contest Rules.

Mr. Swinehart is now engaged in the preparatinn of the constitution and by-laws governing the two-days meet. It will be issued next week. Several new rulings have been adopted since the last annual meeting, none of which makes radical changes however.

The prizes also will be nearly the same as in the preceding years, although there will perhaps be a few more than heretofore.

Godby, Tarkio, vice-president; A. A. Ross, Platte City, secretary; W. M. Westbrook, Maryville, treasurer; H. P. Swinehart, Maryville Normal, corresponding secretary.

TOMORROW IS CUPID'S DAY

Love-Lorn Youths Will Observe St. Valentine's Death With Endearing Missives.

Tomorrow is .Daniel Cupid's day Likewise it is a red letter day in the hearts of the love-lorn youths of the land. For tomorrow, February 14, these victims of Cupid's arrow will observe the death of St. Valentine, nearly two thousand years ago, by sending to the fond one some endearing missive.

On this day the bashful young man, who has choked times innumerable on his words of love, may send an abundance of passionate poems de armor to his lady love, expressing his feeling toward her. And the young lady on this day enjoys the same privilege.

It is a day that will bring many blushes and considerable extra work for the mail carrier.

Valentines, those little missives invented by the arch villain Cupid, look about the same this year as those of previous years, excepting that the "comics" are numbered among the missing. The valentines on display in book stores and drug stores, come in all sizes ranging in price from a penny to $5. Tin foil, celluloid, tissue and gold leaf are used in making up the designs.

All of the "pretties" are inscribed with love poems and songs of spring time and Cupid.

The custom of sending valentines can be traced to a practice among the ancient Romans. At the feast of Lupercalia, which was held on February 15, the names of all the daughters of Rome were put in a box and drawn therefrom by the young men. Each youth was bound to offer a gift to the maiden who fell to his lot and to make her his partner during the time of the feast.

St. Valentine was a bishop of Rome during the third century. He was successful in converting the pagan Romans into Christians. For this reason he incurred the displeasure of Claudius the emperor, who hated and prosecuted the little Christian band and he was martyred by the order of that ruler. He was first beaten with clubs and then beheaded. The date of his death was February 14, 270.

Mr. Thorp made test runs of each route today and announces that he can run from the square to any point in the city within five to six minutes. He is, however, allowing ten minutes, to permit of stops and side street runs. The car to be used is a five-passenger Ford. It will be parked at the southwest corner of the square when not on a route. The routes are from the square to the Normal, Lawn avenue on Main, east end of Third, east end of First, west end of First, South Buchanan street, returning on Main.

The fund cleared is to apply toward paying the salary of the matron of the rest room.

House Fails to Pass Revised Alien Law Over President's Veto, Says W. C. Van Cleve.

(By W. C. Van Cleve.)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—Will they or will they not? That's what everybody about the capitol wants to know. Will the senate pass the shipping bill? And if they do not, will they drop it in time to pass the supply bills and necessary legisiation before the expiration of the present session? There are now but twenty-one working days left and thirteen big appropriation bills, the Philippine bill, the conservation bills and other important legislation passed by the house are yet to be acted upon in the senate.

In the meantime the war over the shipping bill continues. The Republicans filibutered until they got their forces together and gathered seven recruits from the Democratic ranks and then sprang a cruel surprise on their opponents. They suddenly appeared with enough votes to recommit the bill and to make its passage in its original form impossible.

Since that time the Democratic forces have been filibustering to prevent the defeat of the bill. An earnest effort has been made to get the support of at least two of the progressive Republicans and distress calls have been sent to every absent Democrat. Today's session showed every member of the senate in his seat, and it was

DREDGE BOAT OVERTURNS

High Water in River East of Pickering Delays Work.

A swift rush of water caused by the increased flow of the last few days, overturned the dredge boat in the One Hundred and Two river Thursday at a point in the river channel just east of Pickering.

The boat is under about ten feet of water and is in a deep cut of the bed, which makes the work of extraction difficult. No one was on the boat at the time it sank.

The accident will delay the work for several days longer.

The new channel has been dug from the county line on the north to a point east of Pickering. The entire channel to be straightened reaches from the state line on the north of Hopkins to the Carr bridge, about two miles south of Maryville, a distance of 18.7 miles. The contract for the work was let in December, 1913, to the D. C. Stevens company. It calls for completion of the work by September 1, 1915. With the work progressing as it has been, it probably will be completed before that time.

The new channel passes under seven of the county bridges crossing the One Hundred and Two, and necessitates the building of three new bridges by the county. Four of the seven bridges have been passed. The dredge boat company contracted for the removing of these bridges and their replacement.

TEUTONS ARE DRIVEN BEFORE CZAR'S ADVANCE.

TWO BRITISH SHIPS SUNK BY GERMANS?

Havre Shipping Authorities Believe Submarine Destroyed Steamers Oriole and London Trader.

Geneva, Italy, via Paris, Feb. 13.—The Austrians have been driven back from the Dukla pass by the Rissian forces are advancing on Donajec to battle still continues and the czar's forces are advancing on Donajac to Kroscienko.

Havre, Feb. 13.—Shipping circles here now consider it practically certain that the British steamer Oriole was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine. The last time the British vessel is known to have been seen was at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of January 30, near Dungeness, in company with the London steamer London Trader.

It also is missing. There is equal certainty that the London Trader shared the same fate of the Oriole. A telegram from Rouen says James Cullen, survivor of the Trader, was landed there by the steamer Poland recently.

The routing of the czar's forces in the region of the Mazurian lakes, as reported by Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, is considered here one of the biggest victories of the Teutons over the Slavs in the present war.

BUY HOGS AT JAMESPORT.

Skidmore and Ravenwood Breeders Purchase Pure Bred Poland-Chinas.

Several purchases by Nodaway county breeders were made in the seventeenth annual sale of fifty-five old fashioned spotted Poland-China sows of H. L. Faulkner of Jamesport, Wednesday. Faulkner's yearly hog sales draw some of the largest crowds in the state, buyers being present from many middle west states.

F. W. Barber of the firm of F. C. Barber & Sons of Skidmore was the buyer of six choice sows, which he intends to use to establish a herd of spotted Poland-Chinas. One of his purchases was "Big Sis," a 4-year-old sow, for $108, which was next to top price received for any one of the sows offered.

J. R. Lawson of Ravenwood paid $70 for a 1-year-old sow, while Curfman & Bucks of Ravenwood paid $60 for "Spotted Beauty," a 1-year-old.

Defeat "Dry" Zone Bill.

The bill prohibiting saloons within five miles of any city in which state educational institutions are located was defeated yesterday in the lower house of the legislature. The vote was not on the bill direct, but on a motion to have the bill placed on the house calendar, despite an adverse vote by the committee on criminal jurisprudence.

FIGHT SHIP BILL

The situation today is practically this; one side is afraid and the other "dassent." The Democrats today fear that they are one vote short of enough to put the bill over. The Republicans, on the other hand, fear that if it is brought to a vote there will be a tie in which case the vice president would cast the deciding vote. So the talk goes on.

A crisis is likely to be reached at any time. A deciding situation may be developed at any moment, just as it did a week ago, and yet the thing may run on until the end of the session. It is a great game of chess. The Democrats began with a distinct advantage. Then they were suddenly "checked" by the opposition. There have been several "checks" since, but a checkmate has not been forthcoming.

One thing is certain, the bill must be passed or dropped soon if we are to avoid an extra session. Of course the senate can do business fast enough to make your head swim when they get good and ready, but they must get rid of the shipping bill one way or the other soon. It is the first real prospect for a defeat that the president has encountered at the hands of congress, and he, of course, is loath to give up. On the other hand, nobody at this end of the capitol wants an extra session.

For the past week members of the senate have been busy calling each other names. Senators Stone and Reed both laced and excoriated the seven recalcitrant Democrats who strayed off the reservation, and the "bolters," of course, kicked back. Senator James gave them a vigorous skinning, and so the merry game goes on. Most of the seven had gone into a caucus, but they kicked loose and jumped to the Feds, temporarily at least. Vitriol poured on them will make them burn now, but it may take salve to heal the wounds later on.

The speeches of both Senators Stone and Reed were masterpieces of their kind. That of Senator Stone was studied and prepared, and that of the junior senator was entirely impromptu.

The most important development in the house during the past week was its failure to pass the immigration bill over the president's veto. The vote was very close, the yeas being 261, the nays 136, and those answering present 2. It requires a two-thirds vote to pass a bill over the objections of the president, and if there had been only 133 votes to the contrary the bill would have passed over the veto. A change of three votes from nay to yea would have passed the bill. One thing worthy of note in this connection is the fact that the roll call showed 399 members present and voting, an unusually large number.

The immigration bill has been a bone of contention for many years in some form or other, and will continue to be until a bill is passed. Similar bills have passed a number of times, and substantially the same bill as this was vetoed by President Taft and came near being passed over his veto.

Speaking of team work incidentally, this seems to be a case where the captain left the team. The Democrats of both this and last congress went on record by a large majority as being in favor of the bill which the president vetoed. Chairman Burnett, the author of the bill, served notice that another bill would be introduced in the next congress.

SHIP BILL FIGHT IN LOWER HOUSE

Amendment to Make It Temporary Measure Is Unsatisfactory.

SENATE FILIBUSTER CONTINUES

Republicans Prepared to Filibuster Against Reed Resolution—Senator La Follette Discusses Resolution For International Peace Conference.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The fight over the government ship purchase bill was shifted from the senate to the house. In the senate, the measure blocked by determined Republican opposition, was displaced as the unfinished business and a cloture role designed to forcibly terminate the filibuster was taken up.

Democrats who had been working at both ends of the capitol to get the bill in form acceptable to both senate and house before March 4 were confident it could be passed if the amendment making it a temporary measure was attached. The counter proposal advanced by the postmaster general threw the whole proposition again into the region of uncertainty.

Representative Kitchin, the house Democratic leader elect, declared he would not vote for the bill in the form proposed, but that he had no doubt it could pass the house. The Democrats who favored the temporary amendment feared a resumption of the Republican filibuster were it not attached.

With the White House proposal as a new basis further negotiations went forward. Meanwhile the shipping legislation awaited the reformation of the administration lines. Plans to bring up the cloture rules, which the long filibuster has suggested, were knocked awry in the senate when the rules committee failed to act favorably. It appeared that the sentiment in favor of getting through with the waiting appropriation bills was growing.

Vice President Breaks Tie.

Senator Reed precipitated a parliamentary battle in the senate by seeking a vote on his resolution to close all debate on the shipping bill with a final vote not later than Feb. 19.

His action came as a surprise and a long wrangle followed. Twice during the debate roll calls on motions resulted in a tie, 46 to 46, and each time Vice President Marshall broke the deadlock. He sustained Senator Lodge's point of order, however, that Senator Reed's proposal was debatable. Senator Norris then moved to amend Senator Reed's motion by adding his proposed cloture rule that no senator should speak more than three hours on one question. Mr. Norris spoke at length upon it.

The parliamentary result of the wrangle it developed was to place the ship bill so it cannot be brought up again without a motion. Senator Norris declined to withdraw his amendment and Senator La Follette got the floor and began a discussion of his resolution for an international peace conference.

The development did not materially affect the senate deadlock, because Republicans were prepared to filibuster against the Reed resolution.

Saw Three Wolves.

Herb Damewood, who lives northwest of Hopkins, was in town last Saturday and reports that he saw three wolves near his feed lots one evening last week, one of the wolves being an exceptionally big fellow. It is said more wolves are to be found now in this vicinity than has been known for several years, and one farmer credits it to the fact that the wolves have been attracted here to feed on the carcasses of dead horses. Many horses have died with the corn stalk disease and not a few farmers have dragged the carcasses to some ravine instead of burying them and it has made rich feed for the wolves.—Hopkins Journal.

ATTACK TEUTONS FROM THE AIR

Thirty-four British Planes Raid Towns In Belgium.

GRAHAME-WHITE FALLS IN SEA

British Flight Commander Is Rescued by French Vessel—Great Damage Is Done to Railway Station at Ostend. Tracks Torn Up.

WAR SUMMARY

Berlin flags again are flying in celebration of a victory over the Russians in East Prussia and under the eyes of the German emperor. The extent of the defeat administered to the Muscovite forces by Field Marshal von Hindenburg had not yet become known officially, but Germany is awaiting the news expectantly in the belief that it had been an important one.

Artillery duels, with here and there a small sortie by infantry, are taking place in the west.

Heavy battles are in progress in Poland. Between the Niemen river and the lower Vistula five separate engagements are being fought. Farther south in Poland artillery duels are taking place and in the Carpathians the same sanguinary fighting that has been going on for days continues.

London, Feb. 13.—The official information bureau issued the following statement:

"Thirty-four naval aeroplanes raided Bruges, Zeebrugge, Ostend and Blankenberghe (all in Belgium). Claude Grahame-White fell. He was rescued."

A description of the raid was given out as follows:

"During the last twenty-four hours combined aeroplane and seaplane operations have been carried out by the naval wing in the Bruges, Zeebrugge, Blankenberghe and Ostend districts with a view to destroying the department of submarine bases and establishments. Thirty-four naval aeroplanes and seaplanes took part.

"Great damage is reported to have been done to the Ostend railway station, which, according to present information, has probably been burned to the ground. The railway station at Blankenberghe was damaged and the railway lines were torn up in many places.

"Bombs were dropped on the positions at Middlekerke and also on the power station and the German mine sweeping vessels at Zeebrugge, but the damage done is unknown.

"Flight Commander Grahame-White fell into the sea off Nieuport and was rescued by a French vessel. Although exposed to a heavy gunfire from rifles, anti-aircraft guns, machine guns, etc., all of the pilots are safe. Two machines were damaged."

ALL EYES ON EAST PRUSSIA

Russians Forced to Retire Before Teuton Offensive.

London, Feb. 13.—All eyes now are turned upon East Prussia, where the German army, under the observation, but not the command of Emperor William, has taken the offensive and compelled the Russians to evacuate their positions east of the Mazurian lakes and retire to their own territory.

The Russians refer to this as a strategical retirement, but the German official communication intimates that the appearance in this district of a strong new German force was a surprise to the Russians and that the Germans captured 26,000 prisoners, 1,200 cannon and thirty machine guns and a lot of war material.

Sign Anti-Opium Protocol.

The Hague, Feb. 13.—The protocol of the anti-opium convention of 1912, which aims at the suppression of the opium traffic and international traffic in cocaine and other noxious and habit-forming drugs, was signed at The Hague by Henry Van Dyke, the American minister to the Netherlands; Tang Tsing Fou, the Chinese minister, and M. Loudon, the Netherland minister of foreign affairs.

French Trade Report Out.

Paris, Feb. 12.—M. Alexandre Ribot, minister of finance, has resumed the publication of the reports on trade and finance, which were dropped at the start of the war. From the report now issued it appears that the value of trade with foreign countries diminished by $650,600,000 during the first four months of the war.

Ship Washington Sunk by Russ.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Ambassador Morgenthau reported from Constantinople that the steamer Washington, partly American owned, had been sunk in the harbor of Trebizonde, Turkey, during the Russian bombardment of that port. He said he would forward a full report of the incident later.

Buy Projectiles of U. S. Firm.

Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 12.—Orders for projectiles, aggregating $4,000,000, are understood here to have been placed with a local munitions manufacturing company for one of the warring nations.

Deputies Pass Anti-Absinthe Bill.

Paris, Feb. 13.—The chamber of deputies adopted the bill prohibiting the sale of absinthe.

NO DECISION IN WAR YET

Half Year of Fighting Brings Belligerents No Closer to Goal.

The end of the sixth month of Europe's great war finds the armies of the belligerent nations completing preparations for a new series of operations or actually engaged in campaigns, the extent of which probably was anticipated when the declarations of hostilities were made.

In Flanders, France and Central Poland a deadlock still exists, but largely because of Russia's tremendous resources and the action of Turkey the sphere of operations have been widely extended.

Russia alone is engaged in fighting hostile armies from Tilsit, far in the north of East Prussia, to Tabriz, in Persia, a distance of more than 1,500 miles. Only that portion of her territory bordering on Roumania is free from menace, but according to the reports all is going well with her immense armies. The Russian outflanking movement in northern East Prussia is said to be gaining momentum.

Armies Fight On.

The armies on each side of Tilsit hace cut the German railway between that city and Memel on the Baltic.

On the southern front of East Prussia another army is advancing toward the German fortress of Thorn, while still another is holding a line of entrenchments, which protect Warsaw and which General Von Hindenberg has been trying to batter through for three months. Other armies are again preparing to meet a big-Austro-German force, which is attempting to regain Galicia and Bukowina, thereby turning Grand Duke Nicholas's left wing.

To the eastward the Muscovite troops are battling against the Turks in the Caucasus and Persia.

What is regarded as the most important campaign, however, is that which is developing in the Carpathians, brought about by the Austro-German offensive designs to drive the Russians from Galicia and Bukowina, thereby removing the menace of an invasion of Hungary. The Austro-German allies are said to have concentrated no less than twenty-eight army corps for this venture.

Definite Decision Far Off.

So far as can be gathered from contradictory sources the Russians have won preliminary skirmishes in the western passes from Dukla to Wyszkow, while to the east they have been forced to retire before superior forces. The battles which are being fought in the snow are just commencing, however, and many days must pass before a definite decision is reached.

Battles in the west still consist of local engagements, although the Germans, who apparently are preparing for an extensive offensive before the allies get their full strength into the field, occasionally deliver rather more serious attacks.

These are scattered all along the front from the sea to the Swiss frontier, but always come back to that portion of the line which lies between them and the French coast towns.

Mr. Swinehart is now engaged in the preparatinn of the constitution and by-laws governing the two-days meet. It will be issued next week. Several new rulings have been adopted since the last annual meeting, none of which makes radical changes however.

TOMORROW IS CUPID'S DAY

Love-Lorn Youths Will Observe St. Valentine's Death With Endearing Missives.

Tomorrow is .Daniel Cupid's day Likewise it is a red letter day in the hearts of the love-lorn youths of the land. For tomorrow, February 14, these victims of Cupid's arrow will observe the death of St. Valentine, nearly two thousand years ago, by sending to the fond one some endearing missive.

On this day the bashful young man, who has choked times innumerable on his words of love, may send an abundance of passionate poems de armor to his lady love, expressing his feeling toward her. And the young lady on this day enjoys the same privilege.

It is a day that will bring many blushes and considerable extra work for the mail carrier.

Valentines, those little missives invented by the arch villain Cupid, look about the same this year as those of previous years, excepting that the "comics" are numbered among the missing. The valentines on display in book stores and drug stores, come in all sizes ranging in price from a penny to $5. Tin foil, celluloid, tissue and gold leaf are used in making up the designs.

All of the "pretties" are inscribed with love poems and songs of spring time and Cupid.

The custom of sending valentines can be traced to a practice among the ancient Romans. At the feast of Lupercalia, which was held on February 15, the names of all the daughters of Rome were put in a box and drawn therefrom by the young men. Each youth was bound to offer a gift to the maiden who fell to his lot and to make her his partner during the time of the feast.

St. Valentine was a bishop of Rome during the third century. He was successful in converting the pagan Romans into Christians. For this reason he incurred the displeasure of Claudius the emperor, who hated and prosecuted the little Christian band and he was martyred by the order of that ruler. He was first beaten with clubs and then beheaded. The date of his death was February 14, 270.

He is, however, allowing ten minutes, to permit of stops and side street runs. The car to be used is a five-passenger Ford. It will be parked at the southwest corner of the square when not on a route. The routes are from the square to the Normal, Lawn avenue on Main, east end of Third, east end of First, west end of First, South Buchanan street, returning on Main.

The film is produced by the World Film corporation, and carries a thrilling story with a good romantic feature and many fine scenes. The portrayal of the picture illustrates some of the principal questions relating to the legal status of women and equal rights, and has been shown by women's clubs all over the country.

The fund cleared is to apply toward paying the salary of the matron of the rest room.

To Visit in Kansas City.

Miss Katherine Yehle will leave Monday morning for Kansas City to spend a week, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Tunstall. Mrs. Tunstall was formerly Miss Philomene Romasser of this city.

House Fails to Pass Revised Alien Law Over President's Veto, Says W. C. Van Cleve.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—Will they or will they not? That's what everybody about the capitol wants to know. Will the senate pass the shipping bill? And if they do not, will they drop it in time to pass the supply bills and necessary legisiation before the expiration of the present session? There are now but twenty-one working days left and thirteen big appropriation bills, the Philippine bill, the conservation bills and other important legislation passed by the house are yet to be acted upon in the senate.

In the meantime the war over the shipping bill continues. The Republicans filibutered until they got their forces together and gathered seven recruits from the Democratic ranks and then sprang a cruel surprise on their opponents. They suddenly appeared with enough votes to recommit the bill and to make its passage in its original form impossible.

Since that time the Democratic forces have been filibustering to prevent the defeat of the bill. An earnest effort has been made to get the support of at least two of the progressive Republicans and distress calls have been sent to every absent Democrat. Today's session showed every member of the senate in his seat, and it was

High Water in River East of Pickering Delays Work.

A swift rush of water caused by the increased flow of the last few days, overturned the dredge boat in the One Hundred and Two river Thursday at a point in the river channel just east of Pickering.

The boat is under about ten feet of water and is in a deep cut of the bed, which makes the work of extraction difficult. No one was on the boat at the time it sank.

The accident will delay the work for several days longer.

The new channel has been dug from the county line on the north to a point east of Pickering. The entire channel to be straightened reaches from the state line on the north of Hopkins to the Carr bridge, about two miles south of Maryville, a distance of 18.7 miles. The contract for the work was let in December, 1913, to the D. C. Stevens company. It calls for completion of the work by September 1, 1915. With the work progressing as it has been, it probably will be completed before that time.

The new channel passes under seven of the county bridges crossing the One Hundred and Two, and necessitates the building of three new bridges by the county. Four of the seven bridges have been passed. The dredge boat company contracted for the removing of these bridges and their replacement.

Geneva, Italy, via Paris, Feb. 13.—The Austrians have been driven back from the Dukla pass by the Rissian forces are advancing on Donajec to battle still continues and the czar's forces are advancing on Donajac to Kroscienko.

Havre, Feb. 13.—Shipping circles here now consider it practically certain that the British steamer Oriole was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine. The last time the British vessel is known to have been seen was at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of January 30, near Dungeness, in company with the London steamer London Trader.

It also is missing. There is equal certainty that the London Trader shared the same fate of the Oriole. A telegram from Rouen says James Cullen, survivor of the Trader, was landed there by the steamer Poland recently.

BUY HOGS AT JAMESPORT.

Skidmore and Ravenwood Breeders Purchase Pure Bred Poland-Chinas.

Several purchases by Nodaway county breeders were made in the seventeenth annual sale of fifty-five old fashioned spotted Poland-China sows of H. L. Faulkner of Jamesport, Wednesday. Faulkner's yearly hog sales draw some of the largest crowds in the state, buyers being present from many middle west states.

F. W. Barber of the firm of F. C. Barber & Sons of Skidmore was the buyer of six choice sows, which he intends to use to establish a herd of spotted Poland-Chinas. One of his purchases was "Big Sis," a 4-year-old sow, for $108, which was next to top price received for any one of the sows offered.

Defeat "Dry" Zone Bill.

The bill prohibiting saloons within five miles of any city in which state educational institutions are located was defeated yesterday in the lower house of the legislature. The vote was not on the bill direct, but on a motion to have the bill placed on the house calendar, despite an adverse vote by the committee on criminal jurisprudence.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The situation today is practically this; one side is afraid and the other "dassent." The Democrats today fear that they are one vote short of enough to put the bill over. The Republicans, on the other hand, fear that if it is brought to a vote there will be a tie in which case the vice president would cast the deciding vote. So the talk goes on.

A crisis is likely to be reached at any time. A deciding situation may be developed at any moment, just as it did a week ago, and yet the thing may run on until the end of the session. It is a great game of chess. The Democrats began with a distinct advantage. Then they were suddenly "checked" by the opposition. There have been several "checks" since, but a checkmate has not been forthcoming.

One thing is certain, the bill must be passed or dropped soon if we are to avoid an extra session. Of course the senate can do business fast enough to make your head swim when they get good and ready, but they must get rid of the shipping bill one way or the other soon. It is the first real prospect for a defeat that the president has encountered at the hands of congress, and he, of course, is loath to give up. On the other hand, nobody at this end of the capitol wants an extra session.

For the past week members of the senate have been busy calling each other names. Senators Stone and Reed both laced and excoriated the seven recalcitrant Democrats who strayed off the reservation, and the "bolters," of course, kicked back. Senator James gave them a vigorous skinning, and so the merry game goes on. Most of the seven had gone into a caucus, but they kicked loose and jumped to the Feds, temporarily at least. Vitriol poured on them will make them burn now, but it may take salve to heal the wounds later on.

The speeches of both Senators Stone and Reed were masterpieces of their kind. That of Senator Stone was studied and prepared, and that of the junior senator was entirely impromptu.

The most important development in the house during the past week was its failure to pass the immigration bill over the president's veto. The vote was very close, the yeas being 261, the nays 136, and those answering present 2. It requires a two-thirds vote to pass a bill over the objections of the president, and if there had been only 133 votes to the contrary the bill would have passed over the veto. A change of three votes from nay to yea would have passed the bill. One thing worthy of note in this connection is the fact that the roll call showed 399 members present and voting, an unusually large number.

The immigration bill has been a bone of contention for many years in some form or other, and will continue to be until a bill is passed. Similar bills have passed a number of times, and substantially the same bill as this was vetoed by President Taft and came near being passed over his veto.

Speaking of team work incidentally, this seems to be a case where the captain left the team. The Democrats of both this and last congress went on record by a large majority as being in favor of the bill which the president vetoed. Chairman Burnett, the author of the bill, served notice that another bill would be introduced in the next congress.

SHIP BILL FIGHT IN LOWER HOUSE

Amendment to Make It Temporary Measure Is Unsatisfactory.

SENATE FILIBUSTER CONTINUES

Republicans Prepared to Filibuster Against Reed Resolution—Senator La Follette Discusses Resolution For International Peace Conference.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The fight over the government ship purchase bill was shifted from the senate to the house. In the senate, the measure blocked by determined Republican opposition, was displaced as the unfinished business and a cloture role designed to forcibly terminate the filibuster was taken up.

Democrats who had been working at both ends of the capitol to get the bill in form acceptable to both senate and house before March 4 were confident it could be passed if the amendment making it a temporary measure was attached. The counter proposal advanced by the postmaster general threw the whole proposition again into the region of uncertainty.

Representative Kitchin, the house Democratic leader elect, declared he would not vote for the bill in the form proposed, but that he had no doubt it could pass the house. The Democrats who favored the temporary amendment feared a resumption of the Republican filibuster were it not attached.

With the White House proposal as a new basis, further negotiations went forward. Meanwhile the shipping legislation awaited the reformation of the administration lines. Plans to bring up the cloture rules, which the long filibuster has suggested, were knocked awry in the senate when the rules committee failed to act favorably. It appeared that the sentiment in favor of getting through with the waiting appropriation bills was growing.

Vice President Breaks Tie.

Senator Reed precipitated a parliamentary battle in the senate by seeking a vote on his resolution to close all debate on the shipping bill with a final vote not later than Feb. 19.

His action came as a surprise and a long wrangle followed. Twice during the debate roll calls on motions resulted in a tie, 46 to 46, and each time Vice President Marshall broke the deadlock. He sustained Senator Lodge's point of order, however, that Senator Reed's proposal was debatable. Senator Norris then moved to amend Senator Reed's motion by adding his proposed cloture rule that no senator should speak more than three hours on one question. Mr. Norris spoke at length upon it.

The parliamentary result of the wrangle it developed was to place the ship bill so it cannot be brought up again without a motion. Senator Norris declined to withdraw his amendment and Senator La Follette got the floor and began a discussion of his resolution for an international peace conference.

The development did not materially affect the senate deadlock, because Republicans were prepared to filibuster against the Reed resolution.

SAVAGE BUYS TOPEKA CLUB

Adoption of Schedule of Western League May Be Postponed.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—The Topeka Western league franchise has become the property of John Savage, secretary of the Kansas City American association club, according to a telegram received by President O'Neill.

It was said that the adoption of a schedule might be put over until April 1, some of the club owners believing it advisable to wait for a decision in the anti-trust suit in the United States district court here.

British Ship Victim of Enemy.

Scarborough, England, Feb. 13.—The new cargo steamer Torquay of Dartmouth was towed into Scarborough harbor in a sinking condition, after either striking a mine or having been torpedoed eight miles east of this port. The damage sustained by the steamer was amidship, one boiler having been penetrated. One man was killed and two were injured.

Saw Three Wolves.

Herb Damewood, who lives northwest of Hopkins, was in town last Saturday and reports that he saw three wolves near his feed lots one evening last week, one of the wolves being an exceptionally big fellow. It is said more wolves are to be found now in this vicinity than has been known for several years, and one farmer credits it to the fact that the wolves have been attracted here to feed on the carcasses of dead horses. Many horses have died with the corn stalk disease and not a few farmers have dragged the carcasses to some ravine instead of burying them and it has made rich feed for the wolves.—Hopkins Journal.

ATTACK TEUTONS FROM THE AIR

Thirty-four British Planes Raid Towns In Belgium.

GRAHAME-WHITE FALLS IN SEA

British Flight Commander Is Rescued by French Vessel—Great Damage Is Done to Railway Station at Ostend. Tracks Torn Up.

WAR SUMMARY

Berlin flags again are flying in celebration of a victory over the Russians in East Prussia and under the eyes of the German emperor. The extent of the defeat administered to the Muscovite forces by Field Marshal von Hindenburg had not yet become known officially, but Germany is awaiting the news expectantly in the belief that it had been an important one.

Artillery duels, with here and there a small sortie by infantry, are taking place in the west.

Heavy battles are in progress in Poland. Between the Niemen river and the lower Vistula five separate engagements are being fought. Farther south in Poland artillery duels are taking place and in the Carpathians the same sanguinary fighting that has been going on for days continues.

London, Feb. 13.—The official information bureau issued the following statement:

"Thirty-four naval aeroplanes raided Bruges, Zeebrugge, Ostend and Blankenberghe (all in Belgium). Claude Grahame-White fell. He was rescued."

A description of the raid was given out as follows:

"During the last twenty-four hours combined aeroplane and seaplane operations have been carried out by the naval wing in the Bruges, Zeebrugge, Blankenberghe and Ostend districts, with a view to destroying the department of submarine bases and establishments. Thirty-four naval aeroplanes and seaplanes took part.

"Great damage is reported to have been done to the Ostend railway station, which, according to present information, has probably been burned to the ground. The railway station at Blankenberghe was damaged and the railway lines were torn up in many places.

"Bombs were dropped on the positions at Middlekerke and also on the power station and the German mine sweeping vessels at Zeebrugge, but the damage done is unknown.

"Flight Commander Grahame-White fell into the sea off Nieuport and was rescued by a French vessel. Although exposed to a heavy gunfire from rifles, anti-aircraft guns, machine guns, etc., all of the pilots are safe. Two machines were damaged."

Russians Forced to Retire Before Teuton Offensive.

London, Feb. 13.—All eyes now are turned upon East Prussia, where the German army, under the observation, but not the command of Emperor William, has taken the offensive and compelled the Russians to evacuate their positions east of the Mazurian lakes and retire to their own territory.

The Russians refer to this as a strategical retirement, but the German official communication intimates that the appearance in this district of a strong new German force was a surprise to the Russians and that the Germans captured 26,000 prisoners, 1,200 cannon and thirty machine guns and a lot of war material.

Sign Anti-Opium Protocol.

The Hague, Feb. 13.—The protocol of the anti-opium convention of 1912, which aims at the suppression of the opium traffic and international traffic in cocaine and other noxious and habit-forming drugs, was signed at The Hague by Henry Van Dyke, the American minister to the Netherlands; Tang Tsing Fou, the Chinese minister, and M. Loudon, the Netherland minister of foreign affairs.

French Trade Report Out.

Paris, Feb. 12.—M. Alexandre Ribot, minister of finance, has resumed the publication of the reports on trade and finance, which were dropped at the start of the war. From the report now issued it appears that the value of trade with foreign countries diminished by $650,600,000 during the first four months of the war.

Ship Washington Sunk by Russ.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Ambassador Morgenthau reported from Constantinople that the steamer Washington, partly American owned, had been sunk in the harbor of Trebizonde, Turkey, during the Russian bombardment of that port. He said he would forward a full report of the incident later.

Buy Projectiles of U. S. Firm.

Deputies Pass Anti-Absinthe Bill.

Paris, Feb. 13.—The chamber of deputies adopted the bill prohibiting the sale of absinthe.

Half Year of Fighting Brings Belligerents No Closer to Goal.

The end of the sixth month of Europe's great war finds the armies of the belligerent nations completing preparations for a new series of operations or actually engaged in campaigns, the extent of which probably was anticipated when the declarations of hostilities were made.

In Flanders, France and Central Poland a deadlock still exists, but largely because of Russia's tremendous resources and the action of Turkey the sphere of operations have been widely extended.

Russia alone is engaged in fighting hostile armies from Tilsit, far in the north of East Prussia, to Tabriz, in Persia, a distance of more than 1,500 miles. Only that portion of her territory bordering on Roumania is free from menace, but according to the reports all is going well with her immense armies. The Russian outflanking movement in northern East Prussia is said to be gaining momentum.

Armies Fight On.

The armies on each side of Tilsit haee cut the German railway between that city and Memel on the Baltic.

On the southern front of East Prussia another army is advancing toward the German fortress of Thorn, while still another is holding a line of entrenchments, which protect Warsaw and which General Von Hindenberg has been trying to batter through for three months. Other armies are again preparing to meet a big-Austro-German force, which is attempting to regain Galicia and Bukowina, thereby turning Grand Duke Nicholas's left wing.

To the eastward the Muscovite troops are battling against the Turks in the Caucasus and Persia.

What is regarded as the most important campaign, however, is that which is developing in the Carpathians, brought about by the Austro-German offensive designs to drive the Russians from Galicia and Bukowina, thereby removing the menace of an invasion of Hungary. The Austro-German allies are said to have concentrated no less than twenty-eight army corps for this venture.

Definite Decision Far Off.

So far as can be gathered from contradictory sources the Russians have won preliminary skirmishes in the western passes from Dukla to Wyszkow, while to the east they have been forced to retire before superior forces. The battles which are being fought in the snow are just commencing, however, and many days must pass before a definite decision is reached.

Battles in the west still consist of local engagements, although the Germans, who apparently are preparing for an extensive offensive before the allies get their full strength into the field, occasionally deliver rather more serious attacks.

These are scattered all along the front from the sea to the Swiss frontier, but always come back to that portion of the line which lies between them and the French coast towns.
